How to share Ovid search strategies

Ovid offers you some very powerful tools to share search strategies and search history. Use these tools to forward your strategies and search history as jumpstarts so they can be replicated and re-launched by colleagues from other institutions.

These tools and many more options are available here: http://tools.ovid.com/ovidtools/
At the top of the page, you'll see the History Launcher and History Jumpstart. You can use the History Launcher to copy and paste search histories and re-launch the search in an Ovid account:

You can use History Jumpstart to paste your search history and create a jumpstart (direct URL) that automatically runs the search in an Ovid account: